It is with deep regret that Wigen Brothers and myself are dispersing but this seems the only feasible solution to dissolving our partnership on the cattle. Seven years ago, Wigen's leased my farm land and my cow herd, but now that my two sons are taking over most of the land, the lease arrangement has been terminated. This has forced Wigen's to lease other land and makes it impossible for us to continue the cattle partnership. My two boys can't afford the tremendous investment of the cattle as well as the machinery necessary to farm the land. I hope in the new future we get back into the Shorthorn business as I've certainly enjoyed the many friends I've met over the entire country and I assure you my thoughts and feelings of Shorthorns and Shorthorn people will follow the same pattern as in the past.

W. W. Archer

We've enjoyed the Shorthorn cattle business and the many people we have met over the last seven years we've been partners with W.W. Archer. We knew seven years ago this day would eventually come when Wes and Bruce Archer would take over the land after they finished school, married and settled down. With the loss of our lease on this acreage, we've been compelled to lease other land too far away from the Archer land to let us economically stay in the cattle business with Warren. As a result, we've decided to disperse the herd, and to dissolve our partnership in the cattle. We hate to see the cattle go as much as Warren does, but it's the only way possible to equitably settle the partnership. We hope our friends and acquaintances continue with the many fine people we've come to know throughout the Shorthorn Fraternity.

Wigen Brothers
(Ernest & Orlando)

We deliberated buying out Wigen's interest in the purebred cattle to continue the original Archer herd but there are a lot of cattle and it runs to a lot of money. With the tremendous investment of farm machinery today and our young families coming on, we decided it was just too much investment and we'd be terrifically under capitalized for such a huge undertaking. We hope that in the near future we can get into the Shorthorn business with our Dad, W.W. Archer, as Shorthorns run deep in all our veins.

Wes and Bruce Archer

From the Sale Manager

What can a sales manager say that is totally fitting to a grand bunch of cattle to be dispersed. The dispersion was an inevitable decision; the real loss comes from the losing of a good herd--the people involved will always take an active interest in the Shorthorn industry.

To found the Archer herd was a huge financial undertaking as no expense was spared to assemble the best females available. Thousands of the leading herds were added regularly. The best bulls available were selected as herd bulls.

Only in a dispersion can far sighted breeders really improve their present herd status as only in dispersion are the "never for sale" or "won't even price her" ones offered to the highest bidder. I urge every breeder, established or prospective, to study the catalogue and pedigrees of every lot offered. Then, come to the sale and select the individual with the ancestry that suits him.

The combined two-day event of the Ekness, Michaelson sale, along with the Archer, Wigen dispersion is a new milestone in Shorthorn history in the upper Midwest. This has to be the biggest sale and unquestionably one of the best ever staged in this area. It will be a rewarding, profitable trip to these sales for those who will make it. I hope to see you here to take advantage of this seldom offered sale offering.

Usher was used heavily at a young age and was operated on at U. of Minn. in 1964 so was really set back. In class at Perth at 1 year old he was the biggest bull for his age. He combines the blood of Uppermill & Cruggleton Perfect, Bapton Constructor and Kirkton Baronet and comes from one of the breeds best breeding cow families, Calrossie Broadhooks'.

A typical pair of Archer, Wigen bulls shown by Ernie Wigen and W.W. Archer. These two were Champion and reserve at a recent N.D. State Sale at Carrington. Every sale and every fair or show Archer, Wigen have ever participated in, their entries have been in the champion circle and among the top sellers. This is quite an achievement. The bulls on offer now are the best they've ever had. If you need a bull or bulls, look this offering and the Ekness, Michaelson offering over. You'll find what you are after on October 30.
